Brooklyn Teachers Object to a Negro Associate.Opposition to His Appointment to a School for White Children—Threats of Wholesale Resignations—Strong Protests Made—Simply a Race Question—The Authorities to Act.NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—There is likely to be trouble in the Brooklyn school board next Tuesday over the recent selection of a colored man as a teacher in school No.
114, which is located in Canarsie. An effort will be made at this meeting to have the appointment revoked. Threats on the part of the corps of white teachers in the school to resign in a body if the appointment is not recalled complicate the situation.William L. Buckley, Ph. D., is the man to whom these objections are made. At the meeting of the school board, November 13, Samuel R. Scott, chairman of the local committee of No. 114 school, asked for his appointment as teacher, but said nothing about his color. Mr. Scott is himself a colored man, and the only representative of his race on the board. There are only a few colored children in the school, and they have never been collected into a separate class.The local committee of this school consists of Mr. Scott, Dr. J. K. Powell, and Edward M. Bassett. Dr. Powell, it appears, had been previously seen by Mr. Scott with reference to the appointment, and made no objection. There is no doubt as to the qualifications of Mr. Buckley. His color is the only objection found to him.
The other teachers declare that they will not teach alongside a colored teacher.Mr. Scott said yesterday that Buckley is not a stranger in educational circles, as he had been previously seen by Mr. Scott with reference to the appointment, and
color is the only objection found to him.
not teach alongside a colored teacher.There was a vacancy in No. 114 school a little later and I thought Mr. Buckley would be a good man to fill it. I sent him to Messrs. Bassett and Powell, who consented to his appointment. Later Mr. Bassett withdrew his consent on the ground that he had thought it was a class of colored children he was to teach, and not white children. Mr. Bassett excitedly informed me that he had heard from the teachers of the school, who declared that if Mr. Buckley was placed in the school they would resign.On learning of this Mr. Scott said he called a meeting in the school, at which Dr.
Powell gave his consent to the appointment, but Mr. Bassett refused to give his.
It was also asserted by Mr. Scott that Mrs. Mary J. McHenry, principal of the school, had expressed to him her satisfaction in the appointment of Mr. Buckley.
When seen in her home yesterday afternoon she said that there was no trouble in the school.Dr. Powell said that she called on him after the appointment was known and said that she objected to having a colored teacher in the school, and said she did not think it the proper thing, and that if the appointment were made the trustees would resign.Mr. Bassett purposes bringing the matter up at the school board meeting.

HUNTING A STOLEN CHILD.

Chandler Harris' Two-Year Search for His Daughter.
CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Chandler T. Harris had hoped on Christmas morning he would again see his nine-year-old daughter, Heloise, who was two years ago kidnaped from his home in Guatemala. He expected to find He-loise in Chicago last night—he had information from the detectives who had worked on the case since her disappearance that she had been in Chicago recently—but a visit to the place where she was supposed to have been brought out the fact that the child's abductor, who is believed to be a variety actress and former governess at the Harris home, had left the city.Mr. Harris arrived in Chicago last night, coming at the telegraphic request of the corps of his New York attorneys.
At the Chicago Avenue police station Mr.
Harris' representative told Lieutenant Cudmore the story of the theft of the child.
Mr. Harris is a coffee planter, whose plantation is near the city of Guatemala.
He went there six years ago from New York city. Two years ago an American woman obtained a position at the Harris home as governess. She said she was an actress, and was stranded there.Several weeks later the governess and He-loise disappeared. After their disappearance it was learned that the governess and child made their way to Liberia, San Salvador, where they took passage on a sailing vessel for New York. In the canvass of the music halls and vaudeville houses in New York traces of the woman and child were found. From that city the abductor and the child were followed to Chicago.
Mr. Harris and the detectives believe the woman went from San Francisco to here, and they left today for the Pacific Coast on the Burlington fast mail.

PETER HOLBERT'S SUICIDE.

An Electrician Shoots Himself After Striking His Wife.JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 26.—Peter A. Holbert, a young electrician, tried to murder his young wife here and then shot himself. Holbert came South from Reading, Pa., and married Ada George, a Brooklyn, Ala. girl, at Tampa. They came here a few months ago. He secured work with the City Electric Light Works and soon became night superintendent. He and his wife were quarreled and three weeks ago they parted.On Sunday Holbert sent for her to come to his room and talk over matters. She came, and they had a long talk. He produced a flask of whisky and gave some to her. He refused to drink any. He then asked her to get something out of his trunk. As she opened the lid with a pair of iron tongs, she screamed and fled into the corridor.Two shots were heard in the room, and Holbert was found shot through the breast and head. When asked why he attempted to kill his young wife, he said: "Oh, it was my d-d meanness." He died last night. Mrs. Holbert will

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Christmas came and went without its traditional snowstorm. Perhaps Nature felt that she owed an apology for her blizzard Monday of last February, and expressed her atonement by giving the Capital blue skies with just a touch of wintry crispness in the air instead of grey clouds and snowflakes.A short walk of twenty minutes' duration in the forenoon, a drive in the afternoon with Mrs. McKinley, the reception of a few personal friends during the day, and a short time spent in his private office, tells the story of how the President spent his Christmas Day. There were no guests stopping at the Executive Mansion. Abner McKinley and his wife it was thought could spend the day at the White House, but at the last minute found they were unable to come. The President, who for his usual morning walk about 10 o'clock, but remained out only for a short time.
On his return he joined Mrs. McKinley and remained with her the rest of the forenoon. He refrained from attending Christmas in order that he might spend the time with Mrs. McKinley receiving the few friends who called.The residence portion of the Mansion was bright with wreaths of holly and pine, but no attempt at decorating the public rooms was made. Luncheon was served, as usual, at 1:30 o'clock, but there were no guests. Dinner, which was served at 7 o'clock, was also partaken of only by the President and Mrs. McKinley.Mrs. Porter, wife of the Secretary to the President, with her two small children, was among the first callers at the White House. Mrs. McKinley was greatly pleased to see the children, and spent some time chatting with them. When they left they were loaded down with gifts, which Mrs.
Santa Claus had left with Mrs. McKinley for them. Secretary Long and his son also called. Master Long is a little above the Sun's Claus age, and carried a large package for Mrs. McKinley and was not forgotten by the gracious hostess of the Mansion.Mrs. W. W. Wardfield, of the Hotel Kenmore, was among the hostesses who celebrated Christmas with a dance last night.
The supreme event in yesterday's gay round of Yuletide festivities was the tea and dance given by Mrs. A. E. Bates to introduce her second daughter, Miss Eliza Morgan Bates, to the social world, which by right of her beauty and mental charms, she is so brilliantly equipped to adorn.
The family mansion, in N Street, was as gay as a forest with garlands and holly branches, whose spicy leaves and berries mingled with flaming poinsettia blossoms and tall, graceful palms. The debutante, dressed in a lovely gown, was escorted as the very spirit of Christmas, was presented by her mother, who was gowned in grey, showing touches of silver. Miss Bates, who was a white toad, and who served to accent her dainty blonde beauty assisted in receiving, together with Mrs.
Bingham, Mrs. Audenried, Mrs. McMillan, Miss Alice Hay, Miss Patten, Miss Belle Hagner, Miss Sanger, Miss Daisy Wilson, and the Misses Sheridan. The reception was held in the music room, which was furnished with Christmas greens around the walls and pillars. The decorations were swung from one to another of the ecclesiastic candelsticks, eight feet high and of carved gold-bronze, which Mrs. Bates brought home with her from Rome. The tea table was decorated with poinsettias and other Christmas foliage, through which gleamed tiny crimson holly berries of electric light.The tea was followed in the evening by an informal dance for the season's buds and a number of young married friends of the debutante and her elder sister.The Rev. and Mrs. Hedding B. Leech, of East Orange, N. J., are spending the holidays with Mr. Leech's parents in this city.
They will be at home informally to their friends with Dr. and Mrs. D. Olin Leech, 631 Maryland Avenue northeast, Thursday, December 28, from 4 to 10.

THE BRAZELL DISASTER.

Miners' Naked Lights Responsible for the Explosion.UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 26.—Work of clearing the wrecked Brazell mine is progressing but slowly. Four more bodies have been recovered up to today, but not identified. Some of the families of the victims are in suffering condition. The men who have been working since Saturday to recover the bodies are almost exhausted, yet they refuse to give up.That naked lights and unlocked safety lamps were used in a dangerous mine has been officially confirmed by Pitt Boss Thomas Jones, who made a state-ment which forms the most sensational chapter on the management of the mine which has yet developed. Jones was asked if it was true that on last Tuesday morning he issued a general order that the miners could dispense with safety lamps."Yes, sir," was the reply.
"Why did you issue that order?"
"I considered that the mine was safe, as the 'break through' had been fixed up."
"Safety lamps were used before Tuesday?"
"Yes."
"Is it true that some safety lamps in use in the mine were not locked?"
"Yes; it is true that some were not locked, because I thought the men who used them were competent to carry them unlocked."
"Was that not contrary to the regulations?"
"Oh, there may be a regulation, but men sometimes carry unlocked lamps where it is known that they are experienced miners."
sometimes carry unlocked lamps where it

is known that they are experienced miners."Mine Superintendent Boyer, when informed of the statement made by Pitt Boss Jones, said:
"I know nothing of the order issued on Tuesday, but consider Jones a capable man who knows his business, and I suppose he used his judgment."How's This?

ALEXANDRIA COUNTY BONDS.

A Bill on the Subject Before the Legislature Creates Discussion.ALEXANDRIA, Va., Dec. 26.—The Virginia Legislature has passed a bill authorizing the supervisors of Alexandria county to issue bonds to the amount of $150,000 for the purpose of improvement in the county roads.This movement was originated by, and has always had the unqualified approval of, the president of the board of supervisors, C. S. Sauerbrey, but the proposition has found a powerful opposition from many citizens of the county.As long ago as October of last year, at the ceremonies attendant upon the dedication of the new county courthouse, located at Fort Myer Heights, Mr. Sauer-brey brought the bonding question before the people. He then advanced the reasons for it, stating that the roads were in a deplorable condition, and that no other way was open for improvement, and that the county should undertake the task of permanent betterment of its highways.This speech was made in the presence of Gov. J. Hoge Tyler, and many other high officials of the State. It had its effect. Despite a vigorous opposition, the project was carried.Mr. Sauerbrey, the latter gentleman being delegate and State Senator, respectively, for Alexandria district in the legislature. The bill now awaiting the approval of the governor, was introduced early in the present session by Mr. Hume, and received the support of Mr. Donohue in the State Senate.
